AUCTION BULLETIN

Buying and selling Furniture, that is what the Honolulu Auction Rooms were more, especially established for, but we will dicker and trade in most any old thing in the line of merchandise. About the first trade we know of is the one Adam made, that little dicker in which he traded a rib for a wife. Adam didn't need that rib, but he did need a wife. In that he showed great wisdom. There is no use in hanging on to something you don't need when you can exchange it for something you do need. In your house, no doubt, there are a lot of things you don't need—pieces of furniture, rugs, bookcase, refrigerator or a stove. You have been keeping these things because they are too good to throw away. But for all the good they are doing you might as well throw them away. Why don't you turn them into money? There are a lot of people who will gladly buy these things. There is a common meeting place right here in the Auction Rooms for shrewd people—in buying what you really need and selling readily what is of no use to you. The best regulated home is the one in which there is no useless things. When the basement is full, the family purse is empty. Sell the useless, buy the useful at the Honolulu Auction Rooms. J. S. Bailey, Mgr.
